PARADE ROUTE FOR CARNIVAL DAY GIVEN

Parade of the Rulers of the Krewe of Chicapoula will commence Tuesday afternoon at 2 p. m. from the Carroll Ave. side of the Bay Central School.

The parade will proceed east up Carroll Ave. to North Beach, south on North Beach to Main St.; thence west on Main Street to the Court House, where the King will toast his Queen. It will then continue west on Main St. to Nocatee Ave., turning south to Union street, west on Union St. to Second St., and north on Second St. to Carroll Ave. where the Court will be presented and there will be entertainment until 6 p. m.

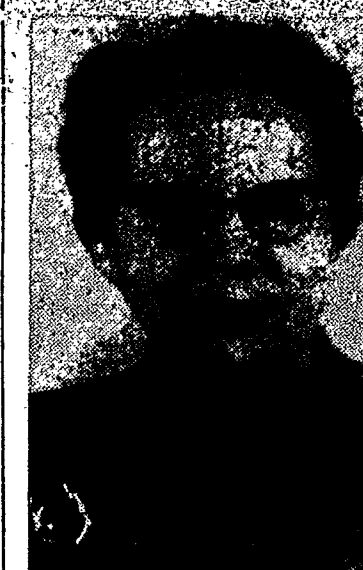

There will be a dance in the Bay High Gym, beginning at 8 p. m. and continuing until 12. There will be an orchestra, and a prize to the best masker, was selected by the judges.

T. A. Broadus and Wayne Alliston will endeavor to line up the parade for the convenience and promptness of the participants.

To assist the PTA with the Mardi Gras, Mayor Warren Carver is promoting the plan to ask the assistance of business houses along the route to appropriately decorate their places of business to lend to the appearance of the festivities of the day. A small cash award will be made in appreciation of the interest shown.

There is still time to enter a float, by calling 682-M.

Conducts Cooking School

MRS. ANN MCGOWAN

Mrs. Ann McGowan, Home Economist for Frigidaires, conducted a large and interesting cooking school for Stevenson's Radio and Electric Service Friday afternoon at the REA building.

Attending the class were women from Pass Christian, Lakeshore, Clermont Harbor, Logtown, Waveland and Bay St. Louis. Also attending were thirty home economics students from St. Joseph Academy, accompanied by their teacher, Sister M. Jean.

Mrs. McGowan, assisted by Miss Louise King and Miss Jean Terry, Mississippi Southern College students, demonstrated electric cookery on a Frigidaires RO 60 Range, with a surface unit meal, deep-fryer or Thermizer meal, and oven-cooked meal, cooked in the new Wonder-Oven.

Deep-frying of fish filets, onion rings and doughnuts in succession in the same pot of fat amazed the audience. The Wonder-oven, in which food was broiled in the upper section and other food baked in the lower section at the same time was demonstrated thoroughly by Mrs. McGowan.

At the close of the demonstration the food which had been cooked—broiled chicken halves stuffed with rice-herb dressing and broiled peach halves, a tempting meal—was served to the guests. The Wonder-oven, in which food was broiled in the upper section and other food baked in the lower section at the same time was demonstrated thoroughly by Mrs. McGowan.

PARADE ENTRANTS TO BE JUDGED ON POINT SYSTEM

Floats in the PTA-sponsored Carnival Parade will be judged on the following basis:

	No. Points
Clear Portrayal of title	10
Eye Appeal	10
Originality	10
Costumes	10
Use of Natural Materials	10

Bill Lizana has offered to help in the organization of the horsemen entries. His wide experience assures their being placed in the most effective spots in the line of procession.

Bicycle riders will be judged in a group at the starting point of the parade in order to avoid the confusion occasioned by some riders not staying in the line of procession in last year's judging. Riders are asked to please cooperate.

Judges have been selected on the basis of their established interest and experience in local art circles, and with careful consideration to neutral interest in local schools and business firms.

FATHER O'LEARY OF LOYOLA UNIVERSITY IS ROTARY CLUB SPEAKER

Father O'Leary of Loyola University, New Orleans, was guest speaker at the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club Wednesday. He prefaced his talk from his store of wit, and had his audience in laughter most of the time.

Father O'Leary said his subject was "Tension," and then reviewed the tension under which people are living. He pointed out the fallacy of worrying over a condition about which the people of America can do nothing.

"It is very necessary that we slow down," Father O'Leary said. "We do everything under pressure. We have to work under pressure because competition is so strong."

"Being able to relax is an attitude of mind," he claimed. "Tension is caused by anxiety. We are anxious, and are wondering what is going to happen, and what we can do about a whole world situation—a whole world problem."

Father O'Leary said that each person is an individual unto himself, but that each person should take care of his own situation.

"Don't be anxious about something we can't remedy. We are much more efficient when we are relaxed," he concluded.

Visiting Rotarians were Dr. Emmett Irwin, New Orleans, Clayton Smith, St. Joseph, Mo., F. S. Workman and J. E. Montague, Minn., and Dr. G. W. Byrne, Pass Christian.

Guests were Mrs. Becky Ainsworth, Mrs. Bell Robinson, Mrs. Jimmy Norman, John Ostonsch, New Orleans, Mesdames Alden Murray, Joe Truett, Ben Hill, Paul M. Miller of Bay St. Louis, Miss Uell Favre and Miss Mary H. Edwards. Morris Morvay was the guest of Octave Delph.

SHOULD BE STOPPED

The Rev. Father Baker, of St. Augustine Seminary, reported this week that someone had entered their premises and had stolen a number of young camellia plants. These plants had been given on much care. This petty thievery grown from cuttings had been given is regrettable, and Father Baker asks anyone who may be asked to buy these young plants to get in touch with him, so that the culprits may be caught and punished.

John Scafidi Gas Maint. Man

John Scafidi has been employed by the City of Bay St. Louis in the Natural Gas Division. Scafidi is in charge of maintenance and operation of gas lines and meters.

Asks Businesses To Deck for Mardi Gras

The Committee on Decorations of the Bay High Parent-Teachers Association has asked all business houses along the Mardi Gras parade route to decorate or dress up their places of business for the day. A small prize will be presented the owner of the best decorated store front.

In making this request, the PTA reminded the merchants that the Mardi Gras celebration here in Bay St. Louis has meant not only a great deal to the children and adult population of the community but to the business men, too. Hundreds of dollars have been kept within the community because the townspeople do not now find it necessary to leave Bay St. Louis for a day's recreation.

This, the PTA asserts, has boosted the buying power of the local trade by keeping people in their own home town.

BAY ST. LOUIS AND PASS CHRISTIAN TO HAVE FINE GOLF COURSE

Proceeding are now under way to recondition the 18-hole Golf Course just across the Bay in Pass Christian, Miss.

Many professionals have proclaimed this to be one of the South's finest golf courses. It originally was designed and built at a tremendous cost. Eleven citizens from Bay St. Louis and Pass Christian will act as an Executive committee during the promotion and organization.

Committee members are: Howard Le Tessier, Reed Hotel, Bay St. Louis; Rev. Charles Johnson, Bay St. Louis, Sam Whitfield, North Beach, Bay St. Louis; E. A. Lang, Pass Christian; Randall Jones, Pass Christian; Alex Cunningham, De Lisle, Dr. C. D. Taylor, Pass Christian, Dr. Ed Gamard, Pass Christian, W. W. Carter, West Beach, Pass Christian, George Moore, West Beach, Pass Christian, and John Bell, Pass Christian.

Alex Cunningham, well-known golf professional, has retired and now lives at De Lisle, just a few miles from the golf course. Cunningham has constructed from start to finish more than 30 golf courses. He states that the Pass Christian Golf Course is one of the finest and most beautiful he has ever had the pleasure of constructing or reconditioning.

It is estimated the annual cost of operating this club and grounds would be just over $10,000. Grounds would be leased to the club for $10,000. The club would have a profit every year.

Red Cross Budget Set At $5,735.00

Finish Evaluation At Bay High School

The Bay St. Louis High School is proud of the fact that following seven months of faculty study and self-evaluation, the evaluation by the visiting committee for the Southern Association has been completed. Contrary to the thought of some lay people and patrons there was no assignment of grade or rating given by the visiting committee. Schools are not classed AA-A or BB-B scholastically. Such classifications apply to schools for athletic competition only. A school is given one of these classifications on the basis of high school enrollment.

Schools holding membership in the Southern Association must meet the standards set up by this accrediting agency or be dropped from the list of accredited schools, but there is no classification of schools, either by letter or figure—the school is either fully accredited or dropped from the list.

The Bay St. Louis school received a certificate of approval for the session 1951-52 prior to the coming of this visiting committee. Primary purpose of the visiting committee was to study the local school system and point out things that would help improve the school system. In so doing, the report of the committee fell into two divisions, namely, commendations and recommendations. The committee commended the school for those things being done well and according to the best educational standards and made recommendations where they found things that might be improved upon. Practically every report commended the school for the "fine pupil-teacher relationship" which is necessary in the operation of a good school. In the matter of recommendations, there were none that could not be met with the construction of a new elementary building, as is now being planned, and more revenue provided for the operation of the public school system.

One recommendation pointed out throughout the entire report was for more vocational guidance and more vocational courses to meet the needs of the vast majority of students who do not go beyond high school graduation, instead of emphasizing college preparatory courses. The school was also commended for the work being done in counseling, career day, consultation of pupils with people in authority in various occupational and professional lines; for the program of standardizing testing and physical examination, and the setting up of permanent records on each student as to physical and scholastic achievements; for providing opportunities for development of citizenship through the different student activities; for splendid operation of the lunchroom program and the keeping of pupil and school records accurately. It was further commended for having a well-prepared, qualified staff of instructors in high school. There is no member of the high school faculty who does not hold a BA or BS degree with a major in their field of teaching and a number of them are now working on a Masters Degree in their special field.

The Bay St. Louis High School is the first of the local schools holding membership in the Southern Association to be evaluated by a visiting committee of this accrediting agency.

Out of 478 high schools in Mississippi there are only 89 schools holding membership in the Southern Association and Bay St. Louis is fortunate in having three of these schools.

FOUNDER OF A GREAT COUNTRY

The man who was most influential in the successful founding of the United States was, of course, George Washington, whose birthday anniversary is observed tomorrow. It is interesting to note that, in the years immediately after Washington's death, people thought it fashionable to depreciate the great contribution he made to the successful establishment of the United States of America as a world power.

Not long ago, one of the country's great historians remarked that, happily, that vogue had changed direction. Actually, he said, the more one studied the life and contributions of George Washington, the more he appreciated the breadth of his talent and ability. A great general, a great President, a great engineer and a great American—George Washington left an imprint which is visible in the freedom and enjoyment of life of every American.

During the bitter winters of the war, he, at times, was faced with almost hopeless tasks. There were times when the Continental Army was at the point of disbanding. There were other times when the money was not available to pay off these volunteers. There were still other times when loyal subjects and the enemy almost persuaded a majority that the cause was hopeless.

In the end, George Washington and his men saw the storm out and enjoyed the bright victory that finally came. After that, George Washington became President of the new republic and refused—when pressed—to accept a third term in office, which he could surely have obtained. This set a long precedent, which has now been established by Constitutional amendment. The wisdom of Washington's decision then is more apparent today than it was even at that time.

Washington, then, not only secured the freedom of the country from England, but he established many of the principles of government as our first President. His high standards of conduct, morality, ethics and statesmanship were and are today an example for Americans in public office. Indeed, this is a proper time to stop and reflect upon the character, courage and determination of Washington—which is so much in need in government today. Because Washington had all these qualities, we are enjoying the fruits of liberty and strength.

INDOOR BEACH PARTY AT YOUTH CENTER SAT.

The indoor beach party at the Youth Center Saturday evening proved a great success. It was a new feature of entertainment and Miss Ebbel Koeniger deserves praise for arrangement of the party, as well as the members for their skill in putting it over.

The group was divided into six teams—Falm Beach, Shell Beach, Daytona Beach, Wadley Beach, Cookey Island and Pontchartrain Beach. Representatives from each beach participated in the games, which were high dive, swimming, board walk, life saving feat, rowing contest and sail boat race.

Members of the Daytona Beach group won the contest, and were presented with a pack of Life Savers.

Higher Prices Can Be Recovered From Woodland

Woodland owners frequently get less income from their timber land because they do not appreciate the difference in value of the many forest products.

Standing timber is usually marketed by the thousand board feet as estimated in the woods, or as determined by tallying the board feet when they are harvested. Many trees are sold in one area for sawtimber without giving thought that other higher priced forest products might be sold from the same area.

Most farmers are not aware of the value which may be present in their own woodlands. This results in the woodland owner receiving less income from his timber than he could have received.

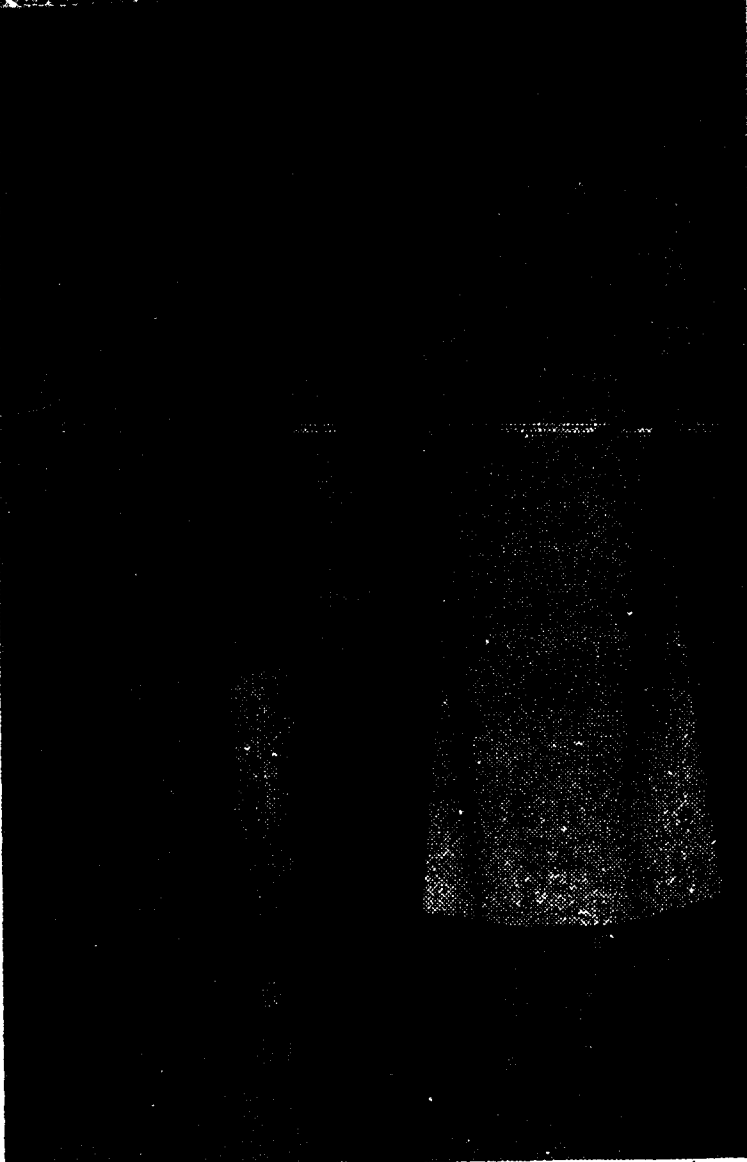

Advice in selling timber is available to woodland owners in Mississippi through the Mississippi Forest Service. Men who have been trained in timber management, how to selectively cut and market timber to the advantage of the woodland owner, are placed in each county by the state. Their time is devoted fully to the people of their county. Fire control, timber marketing, advice in marketing and selective cutting for highest possible income from timber areas are some of their responsibilities. Their efforts will result in the conservation of timber resources for present and future generations.

If you need timber advice, consult your local area forester. The forester in Hancock County is Jack Stewart of Bay St. Louis. Phone 204. Use this man. He is placed there to serve you.

"LADY PAYS OFF" TO PLAY AT STAR THEATRE SUNDAY, MONDAY, 24 - 25

Universal-International's "The Lady Pays Off" at the Star Theatre Sunday and Monday, Feb. 24 - 25.

The film's starring trio, Linda Darnell in her first role as a free-lance actress; Stephen McNally, in a change-of-pace portrayal as an understanding gambler and captivating nine-year-old Gigi Perreau as his screen daughter, shine brightly as this clever comedy unfolds against the colorful background of Reno, Nevada and Carmel, northern California. Swiftly paced by the deft direction of Douglas Sirk, "The Lady Pays Off" casts the glamorous Linda Darnell in the role of a young finishing school teacher who resents being named by a national magazine as the "Teacher of the Year."

A feminine battle royal for the attention of gambler McNally gets underway when Virginia Field enters the scene as McNally's fiancée. Gigi Perreau saves the day, both for her father and for herself, by a cleverly planned ruse which proves a laugh highlight in the hilarious film.

"The Lady Pays Off" was produced by Albert J. Cohen. William Daniels receives cinematography credit and the film's splendid musical score was supervised by Frank Skinner.

MARY VIRGINIA BECOMES BRIDE OF JESSE GLYNN DYKES

Miss Mary Virginia Terry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Thomas Terry, and Mr. Jesse Glynn Dykes of New Orleans, son of Mrs. J. A. Dykes, were united in marriage at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Church of the Holy Comforter, 24th and Poydras streets.

The ceremony of the church was celebrated with bouquets of white spring flowers and candles holding lighted white tapers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a pale pink gown of blue pink nylon tulle over satin. Her finger-ring veil of illusion was held to her head by a coronet of blue pink orange blossoms and she carried a star-shaped bouquet of pale pink lilies with a single white orchid in the center.

Miss Carol Truitt was maid of honor to the bride. Her dress was of pale pink nylon lace over tulle, made ballerina length. She carried a bouquet of pink tulips and violet tapers.

Miss Susan Terry of Washington, D. C., a niece of the bride, was the other attendant. She wore a dress of pale pink tulle with an off-the-shoulder neckline and a pale length.

James A. Terry, brother of the bride, and Mr. Thomas Terry, brother of the groom, were the best man and the groom's father, Mr. J. A. Dykes, were the officiating minister. The ceremony was held at the Church of the Holy Comforter, 24th and Poydras streets.

After the ceremony, the bride and groom were taken to the home of the bride's parents, where they were entertained by the family. The bride and groom will be at home at the home of the bride's parents, where they will be entertained by the family.

Attending the wedding from New Orleans were Dr. and Mrs. A. F. and Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Robt.

Mississippi's 12 largest oil fields estimated remaining reserves of oil and condensate of 421,000,000 barrels. The 12 fields have produced 314,955,000 barrels, of which 35,112,000 were recovered in 1951 according to the Oil and Gas Journal. (Times Daily)

Working Together

Gulf is proud to share a common interest with all the people of Mississippi in its lease of some 800,000 coastal acres from the Mississippi Mineral Lease Commission last August. A seismic survey is now under way and the state's first off-shore test well is soon to be drilled.

Gulf also shares production revenue with over 5000 Mississippi men and women who regularly receive Gulf's royalty and rental checks. These totaled over $2,700,000 in 1951. In addition, Gulf's working team includes some 350 people in our production and pipe-line departments and almost 2500 in our sales activities, who received over $4,667,000 in payrolls and commissions last year.

Gulf bought over $1-million of materials and supplies from Mississippi business firms in connection with its production and exploration work in 43 of the state's 42 counties, and paid over $1,300,000.00 in taxes to local and state government. This makes Gulf a very vital co-worker of Mississippi businessmen and of every Mississippi taxpayer.

Thus, Gulf is working together with every citizen of Mississippi. And, Gulf is proud to team up with all those who realize that the continued sound development of the state's oil and gas resources will bring opportunities for a better, more prosperous life to all the people of Mississippi.

Legislative Views

By WALTER JAMES PHILLIPS

With the advent of the sixth week of the Legislature, more and more bills began coming out of the Committee and were being passed on to the floor of the House. Among the bills which were passed before the House was the Life, Poultry and Egg Production Act, which was advocated by Governor White. As reported in last week's column, this Act passed the Senate by an overwhelming vote. There was some opposition in the House to this measure, and numerous amendments were offered, however, most of these amendments were rejected by the House.

The only amendment which was offered and passed, was the reduction of the amount to be loaned to any individual from the sum of $20,000 to $15,000. This amendment was accepted, and the whole Act passed the House with only 25 dissenting votes.

Last week's representative introduced a bill which would exempt, up to the sum of $500, one motor vehicle for each family. It had been hoped that automobiles could have been exempted from personal ad valorem tax. However, it was found that a great deal of income of the smaller counties is derived from the direct taxing of automobiles. It was further found that the average assessed valuation of each automobile was $373. This average was brought down by the inclusion of so many very old automobiles that were assessed at the lowest rate of $30. It was believed that the $500 figure would approximately be one-half to three-fourths of the average assessed valuation of automobiles, when you do not consider the vast number of automobiles that are assessed at the small amount of $30 each.

There has also been introduced in the House a bill which would insure the collection of the personal ad valorem tax on automobiles. This bill was introduced by Mr. Thigpen of Bolivar County. It was believed by him, and by many members of the House, that so many automobiles are escaping tax-

Principle Best for Public Welfare, Says Unit's Head

Jackson, Miss.—The Mississippi Economic Council has gone on record for keeping a workmen's compensation law for the state.

Bills to repeal the present 4-year-old law are pending in the Mississippi Legislature. President Frank E. Everett, Jr., of the MEC said the MEC Board represents over 2,000 firms, individuals and organizations, voted unanimously to keep a workmen's compensation law on the books.

"While various members said there might be improvements in the law by amendments, it was agreed that the principle of the law is best for the public welfare," he said.

"Business and professional men of the state worked for years to get such a law. There is no doubt that it was helped in the state's industrialization program."

"The council urges citizens to let their legislators know how they feel about the proposals to repeal the act. The law is of extreme importance and should not be dropped by default. Mississippi was the 48th state to enact such legislation, and no other state has repealed its statute."

Various hearings have been had this week concerning the basic foundation program for education in Mississippi. Most of the Legislators agree that something must be done for education in Mississippi. However, much controversy has arisen over the cost of such a program. There has been some hesitancy on the part of many to engage in such an extensive program while the status of education in Mississippi remains uncertain, and it is believed by many that we should wait until the Supreme Court has made their position more clear relative to the segregation issue. However, it is our Representative's views that a careful search should be made in investigating all means of income so as to try to find some means of financing a program which would put education in Mississippi on a better basis. This is especially so relative to teachers' salaries. It is the considered opinion of most Legislators that these salaries should be raised, and that the raise should be on a basis of merit, which would have as a basis the degree held, or the amount of work completed by the teacher.

LYING GOSPELERS

Will Be Offense to Tell Untruth About Another

Jackson, Miss.—Lying gossipers may find themselves in jail if the Legislature makes a law of a bill to be introduced in the Senate.

Senator Willis Matthews said he would introduce the measure making it a criminal offense for any person knowingly or intentionally to tell a falsehood or untruth about another person.

"First conviction would draw a fine of from $200 to $500 and/or a jail sentence of from two to six months. If that punishment failed to impress the offender, his second conviction would draw a penitentiary term of from one to five years."

The Magee senator said Mississippi has no criminal slander law, only a civil statute affording the injured party recourse by suit.

"I think it is just as necessary to have protection against slander as libel," he said. Libel injuries are those published.

Matthews said his bill would not cover a person repeating the untrue statement—just the originator.

He said he had a couple of good examples of what he was trying to prevent.

One of the ways to become intelligent is to remember not to believe everything you see in print.

If your food had stayed as low in price as electricity for the past 10 years you'd get this much for what you now pay for this much

It's startling when you think of it! The average American family pays less per kilowatt-hour of electricity today than it did ten years ago!

Living costs have gone way up. The cost of materials, manpower and everything else needed to provide your electric service has gone way up, too. But your rates have stayed low. Your electric service is still the biggest bargain in the family budget!

Miss Mary Leigh Weston Is Married Sat. To Mr. John Martin Fraering

The wedding of Miss Mary Leigh Weston and Mr. John Martin Fraering was celebrated Saturday evening, February 16, at seven fifteen o'clock at the family home of the bride on South Beach Blvd., Bay St. Louis, in the presence of the immediate members of the two families.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. J. R. Rollins sang Wagner's "O Thou, Sublime Sweet Evening Star," accompanied by Mrs. J. B. Goldman on the organ, who also played the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin for the wedding procession.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth McCulloch Weston, was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. John McCulloch Weston. Her dress was of white nylon net and chantilly lace in bow knot design, over white satin. The tight fitting bodice of the lace sleeves, edged with bands of nylon net, with a row of tiny buttons down the back to the waist. Panels of the chantilly lace made panniers over the hips and extended down each side of the very bouffant net skirt, which ended in a chapel train. Her finger tip veil fell from a cap of illusion which was applied with chantilly lace, outlined with pearls and rhinestones from her mother's wedding dress. She carried a spray of white gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Guy Billups Jr. of Alexandria, La., matron of honor, was the bride's only attendant. She wore a pale pink taffeta and tulle dress with a tulle stole. She carried a spray of pink snapdragons and pink carnations, and wore carnations in her hair.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Camille Martin Fraering, of New Orleans and Wayland, had his elder brother, Mr. William Fraering, for his best man. A younger brother, Mr. Camille Martin Fraering Jr., was groomsmen.

The wedding was performed before the fireplace in the living room, which was banked with magnolia leaves. On the mantle were antique vases filled with white tulips, lilies, snapdragons, stock and gladiolas, flanked on either side by tall, seven-branched candelabra. White spring flowers and white lighted tapers were arranged throughout the reception rooms.

The dining room table was covered with a family heirloom cloth of white linen and filet lace. Lighted silver candelabras tied with white satin ribbons were at either end. Tulips, and white baby orchids sent from Honolulu by the bride's sister, Miss Amelia Shelby Weston, surrounded the three tiered wedding cake which centered the table.

At the reception immediately following the ceremony, which was attended by additional guests, Mrs. Weston was assisted in receiving by the groom's mother, Mrs. Camille Martin Fraering, Mrs. John Henry Weston, paternal grandmother of the bride, Mrs. William Somersmann, maternal grandmother of the groom, and the bridal party.

Mrs. Weston wore a camellia rose chiffon dress, with which she wore Sara Frost camellias at the waist and shoulder. Mrs. Fraering was attired in a pale rose chiffon dress. She wore a corsage of purple violets and pink roses. Mrs. John Weston's dress was of pale gray and silver lace with a gray tulle stole. Her corsage was of delicate pink camellias. Mrs. Somersmann wore a navy and white sheer, with a corsage of white gardenias.

Assisting about the rooms were Miss Dorothy Weston of New Orleans and Mrs. Joseph Benvenuti. Mrs. Leo W. Seal Sr. and Mrs. Louis Maumus presided at the punch bowls. Mrs. Walter J. Gex cut the wedding cake.

Following the reception, the young couple left for a wedding trip to Miami, Fla. For traveling Mrs. Fraering wore a spring suit of light wool, with a top of red poodle cloth, having a black velvet ascot. Her hat was a torreador model of gray and white straw; her accessories of black patent leather. She wore a corsage of white gardenias.

The bride, whose late maternal grandmother was the former Miss Mary Leigh Shelby Watkins of Jackson and Valley Home Plantation, Madison County, was graduated from the University of Mississippi at Oxford, and is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority. The groom attended Tulane University, where he was a member of Delta Tau Delta Fraternity.

The young couple will make their home in New Orleans.
